

September 2018
International Free Flying Magazine

Cross Country

193

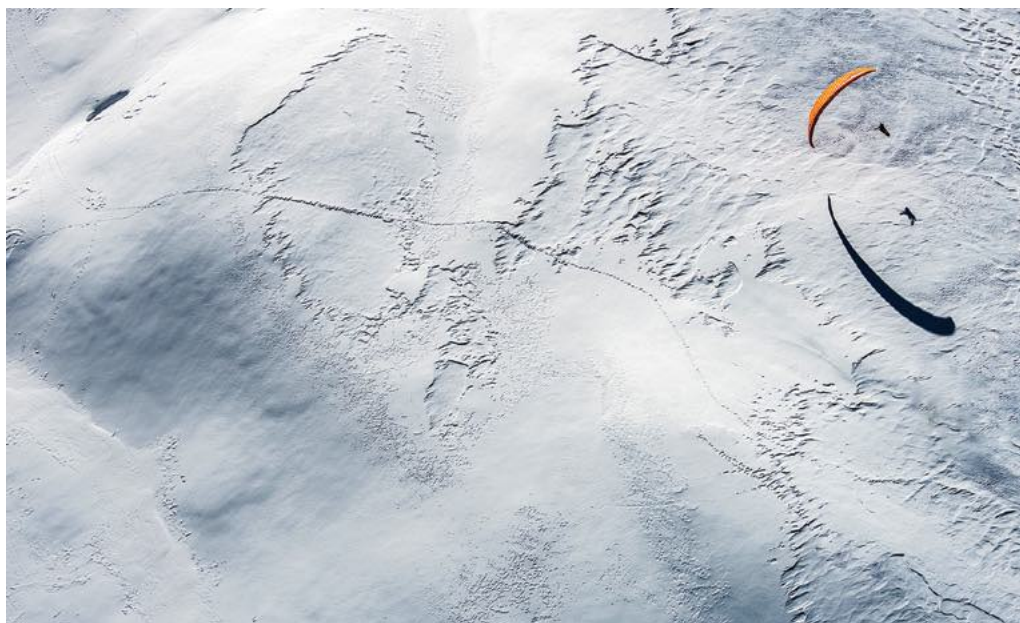

Photographer Jérôme Maupoint has released a new book, Stolen Moments #3. We asked him to select some of his favourites. First up, "On board in La Tournette, this is the typical magic hour at 2,300m after a booming day."

"The Bisaurin with Marc Boyer under a great sky during a west-to-east
Pyrenees traverse, July 2017."

► From top, in good company on the summit of La Tournette; Tim Bollinger, ground spiralling specialist, Swiss Oberland; looking for a lift to the sea in the Pyrenees

"October thermalling above the Col des Aravis (1,487m) on the Chaîne des Aravis, French Alps"

"Marc Boyer at 4,000m above Lac du Portillon in the Pyrenees. This one is a pure stolen moment – 21 August 2017, at 11.30am!"

Jérôme checking the wind on the Normandy coast at Omaha Beach, site of the D-Day landings
jeromemaupoint.com

